CAPE NOME MINES.

Brooklyn Man'r Estimate of the Alleged Elderado,

COAST IS MUCH OVERWORKED.

Prices High For Everything and No Gold Dust in Circulation-Warning to Newcomers-Anvil Creek the Richest,

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 15 .- The secretary of the treasury has received a letter from G. Rudolph, living at 826 Broadway, Brooklyn, N. Y., on the sit-uation at Cape Nome, Alaska. The department sees no reason to doubt the trustworthiness of the story told by Mr. Rudolph and suggests its publication. It is becoming daily more apparent to the officials that the conditions in the new gold fields are almost certain to result in great suffering during the coming winter, especially as epidemics of smallpox and typhoid tever are threatened. The letter is as follows:

"On account of the tarrible reports. In the newspapers concerning the conditions at Cape Nome, I take the liberty of sending you a few lines? I left Nome on June 20, and, being an old miner, I am fully capable of sizing up a new mining camp in a few days. I arrived at Nome on June 12. My partner and I tried working the beach for gold in several places, and I personally naw others by the hundreds lie the same, but not in one instance slid we see a man take out enough gold to pay for his grub. The only-place where any gold was being taken out was between the beach and the tundra. There they were only making days wages of from $7 to $10 a day. Nearly Worked Out.

"This place is only about three-quarters of a mile long, and it is all taken up by about five hundred men. Like the beach, it is now nearly all worked out. I, with thousands of others, had been led to believe that after a winter of after any storm the beach would be of after any storm the gener volulo he, just as good as it was originally. That it not so. When once a colled out, the beach there is done form. While at Nome I talked with men who had come from points as far as fifty miles below the camp. They told me they had found nothing, and, they werry going further north. I talked to with your who. north. I talked, too, with men who had come from points far up the beach, but they declared there was nothing up there, and they were going down the beach. So it seems that the whole stretch is nearly all worked out.
"Now, concerning the librocks, Anvil

Creek is the richest. Having sprained knee, I could not go up, but my partner went the full length of it, look ing for work or for a lay. He could get neither, for at that time—Juje 15—the creeks were still frozen. Ail that could discover was five mingrs there were beginning to strip—that is, take off the top layer of moss and loose earth, which is left to dry, while they begin again in another place. Mean-while the first hole would be thawed out. By that means they managed to work alternate holes. There is no wood in Nome, as there is in the Klondike, and coal is $60 a ton on the beach, while the cost of refreighting it over to the Anvil Creek is tweive cents a pound. You can figure how rich the ground must be to stand such costs of mining.

"No one estimates that more than three hundred hands are at work on Anvil Creek, with as many more each on Snow, Glacier, and Dexter Creeks, a total of perhaps 1,500 meno. When I left 20,000 men were in the district, and the only work was in unloading or putting up new buildings. The former tasks kept about five hundred nen busy and the building employed about three hundred. When I left, on June 20, between five hundred and one thousand were arriving daily. I went on the San Blas, which made a trip on to Et. Michael and brought down three hundred men. The Aberdeen, on which I came back, and brought more.

There are far more deskitate people at Nome than people on the outside know of. I know that the San Blashand steerage bunks numbered up to 300, and over one board outside the san bunks of the san bunks had steerage bunks numbered up to 300, and over one board outside the san bunks of the san bunks had steerage bunks numbered up to 300, and over one board outside the san bunks of the san bunks had steerage bunks numbered up to 300, and over one board outside the san bunks of t cabin, while there were also about twenty stowaways. On the Aberdeen they told me that they had about twen-ty stowaways, and no doubt every boat had a great many stowaways. I spoke to dozens of men, and they told me that they had no food, but expected to go to work when they reached Name.

Provisions Exceedingly High.

'A meal costs from $17to $150, coffee and ple or three crullers twenty-five cents, a bed from $2 to $3, or when you furnish your own blankets, from $1 to $1 50. Canned goods are fifty cents a can, bread twenty-five cents fresh meats from seventy-five cents to $1 a pound, and other things in propor For water, the cost was twentyfive cents for four buckets, and wood was nearly all gon, except at a point, severa! miles down the beach. Even the little to be found there was half rotten and water soaked. Coal oil is $7 n case, and in aber $150 for dry an $125 for green per thousand, and i scarce at the. The water wells I sau from twelve to fifteen feet deer and are sure to be contaminated by all of these people being huddled together.

When I left there were tents twenty deep and about three miles long. Now, you don't want to forget that it took more than fifty vessels to bring all of these people to Nome, to say nothing of over 5,000 coming from the Yukon country. There are no inducements for the steamship companies to send their vessels back again for a 'busted' mob. You may think that I am a cold-foot miner, be ask any infiner who was h that country whether he saw any gold in circulation. That is the way to tell a good camp. In eight days I saw only ownman pay for a purchase with dust When I asked him about it he said it was from the Klondike."

which perhaps are not so common at the present day. Archbishop Summer was once holding a confirmation in an English church when he observed that a number of people were standing in a number of people were standing in the aisles, although several peas were empty. He stopped the service, and asked the reason.

asked the reason.

"The pews are private property," answered a man, "and they are shut up."

"There can be no such thing," said the bishop. "Let the pews be opened."

"We can't open them," shouted some one. "They're locked."

"Is there a locksmith here?"

"Yes, my lord,"

"Very well. Let him remove the locks. A hymn shall be sung meanwhile."

So the locks was reasonable.

So the locks were removed, the audience seated itself and the confirmation went on.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, July 11.-The sole interest attaching to to-day's stock marke wrs as an example of duliness. respect it was a true index of the speculative condition, which is one of en tire uncertainty and lack of conviction Even the professional traders who have constituted thems, wes the cham-plons of certain stocks dur-ing the week were not in evidence, and only small trades between the reg-ular frequenters of the floor were made and only Small trades between the regular frequenters of the floor were imade at any time. Offerings to sell made unduly large laroads on prices because no one stood ready to buy, and any demand to buy caused a rapid advance, because no one vas on hand' to sell.

Most of the board members were out of town for a holiday, confident that nothing that could occur would induce any guiden activity to develop. Some desultory efforts were made to advance.
Union Pacific by making blds for the next dividend on a specified number of shares at a higher figure than the prevalling dividend rate. But these efforts secured little attention. The market was as a whele lower than last night
when the bank statement appeared.
There was some light buying to cover shorts, but the large increase in reserves and in the surplus attracted even less attention than did last week's unexpected decrease.

There was no explanation of the large gain in cash and it was generally accepted as the working of the average system in the rectification of last week's unwarranted show of a loss. The sterling exchange market was nominal
as usual on a Saturday, but the posted rates for demand sterling was advanced ½ cent in response to the rise in London discounts, it is pretty certain that these developments foreshadow an advance in the bank of England minimum discount rate and export of gold from New York next week.
Prices of stocks are higher again this week but the movement was very irregular and the highest prices were not maintained in any case. The movement was practically a duplication of that of last week and gave every appearance of being almost entirely in professional hands and under manipulation. The news of the week offered no reasonable thasis of explanation for the action of the market and it is precessary to fall back on technical conditions to find an explanation. It is evident for one thing; that there has beed formed a professional buil party which is considerably more aggr. salve and commands grea

commands greater resources than any element that has been active for some time past.

New York money lenders are anxious to place call loans on easy terms, but the stiffer rates demanded for loans periods reflects a feeling of uncertainty over the futures, which is doubtless due to the extraordinary conditions of the international exchanges. It is evident that uncertainty in the stock market is almost as great and outside the professional operations referred to, there is little interest in the market. With the reduction of the short interest and the taking of profits the market has been reactionary during the latter part of the week. Bonds have been very little traded in, in spile of the ease of money and prices have changed little in either direction.

Breadstuffs and Provisions

CHICAGO-Wheat was weak from start to finish to-day and closed at a decline of 1401%c. This makes over d c decline in three days. The market improvement in crop conditions in the northwest kept prices on the down Corn was strong on the con-grade. Corn was strong on the continued southwest drouth and closed 2c higher. Oats advanced 3c and provisions declined 5@73c.

Within ten minutes after trading had started in the wheat pit the price of September had been forced to a point over a cent below yesterday's closing figures. September opened unchanged to 3c lower at 79@794c, and under selling orders from all over the floor, the price was steadily pounded down until it had touched 77%c. The principal, in fact almost the only factor in the rapid decline, was the improved condition in the northwest. Rains and cooler weather in the Dakotan and Minnesota, were reported to have greatly improved decine, was the improved condition in the northwest. Rains and cooler weather in the Dakotaa and Minnesota were reported to have greatly improved the condition of wheat, and a private estimate of a crop for those three states of 135,090,000 to $150,000,000 bushels was then given a great deal of credence by disgusted holders of wheat who unloaded fast as they could. At 77%c the demand, which up to this time had been slack, improved. The northwest sent in 'good buying orders, while local shorts covered quite freely for a time. But in the last hour of the short session the market again became extremely dull weak. With the stoppage of the demand prices again slid off, quickly, and shortly before the close the lowest prices of the day were reached, September selling down to 77% 677%c. The final quotation for that option was 77%c. A good many stop orders were received during the final decline. Chicago receipts were $6 cars, 28 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were 244 cars, against 137 last week and 611 a year ago. Total primarry receipts amounted to 630,000 bushels against 736,000 bushels against 736,000

41%c to 44%c, and closed We higher at 14%c.

The market for oats was firm, but featureless. Trading was of only moderate proportions, with the price apparently controlled entirely by corn. Crop reports were rather unfavorable. Receipts were 165 cars. September ranged from 24%624%c to 24%624%c, and closed %c higher at 24%.

Little was done in provisions. Lower hog prices and the weakness of wheat had some effect on prices which yielded slightly early in the session. At the decline the market became steady and held so for the remainder of the session. Soptember pork closed 7%c lower at $12.55; September lard 5c lower at $6.874%c.90 and September ribs 5c lower at $5.55.

er at $6 95.
Estimated receipts Monday: Wheat 95 cars; corn 640 cars; oats 225 cars; hogs 34,000 head.
